Some notes from the Rectory...

'Thy Kingdom Come'

As I mentioned last month, the annual wave of prayer will take place again this year between Ascension and Pentecost. This will be launched locally with a service of Festal Evensong for the Eve of Ascension Day at 7.30pm on Wednesday 29th May, and ending with Festal Evensong for Pentecost at 6pm on Sunday 9th June.

From Ascension Day to Pentecost (Thursday, 30th May to Sunday, 9th June 2019) local churches and individuals will be using the special prayer resources to pray, as did Jesus' first disciples, for the coming of the Holy Spirit so that people will have an encounter with Jesus Christ. Prayer resources are available free from the TKC website (www.thykingdomcome.global).

Like many other dioceses, we shall be celebrating and praying together in our Cathedral on Saturday, 8th June from 10am until 12.15pm (with an optional Eucharist at 12.30pm). All sorts of creative ways of praying for the renewal of our diocese will be on offer, with a chance to move round and sample different prayer stations, as well as joining in prayer and worship corporately. The morning will also see the official launch of the Community of St Hugh, our own diocesan prayer community of Christians who commit to praying regularly for the mission of the Church in Greater Lincolnshire.

Save the date now, bring as many people as you can from your church, bring the whole family, and experience a variety of fun and fast-moving ways of praying, or enjoy the peace of this building in which prayer has been offered for centuries. Details of other local events will be published in the Parish Notes.

A new Churches Festival for the Wolds and Coast

The first ever Lincolnshire Wolds and Coast Churches Festival is on the horizon, with up to 200 churches preparing to open their doors to visitors over the weekends of 31st August and 1st September and also 7th and 8th September, with churches in our area taking part on the second of the two weekends. The National Churches Trust has just received a National Lottery Heritage Fund grant of £7,700 to deliver this exciting new festival. Made possible by money raised by National Lottery players, the project focuses on revealing the stories hidden within Lincolnshire's churches and the hidden treasures that are waiting to be discovered.

It is going to be a celebration that joins all the Wolds and coastal villages together. A celebration that invites holidaymakers to visit our rural hamlets and rolling hills. A celebration that shares the rich heritage with all, as families are encouraged to become treasure seekers. Using magnifying glasses and binoculars they will be invited to get close up in these mini museums and explore deeper into their history. This is a wonderful community project that is seeing many partners come together to benefit the communities of the Lincolnshire Wolds and the coastal strip. The festival is being delivered through a partnership between National Churches Trust and National Churches Trust Heritage Services Ltd, in conjunction with the National Lottery Heritage Fund, Lincolnshire County Council, East Lindsey District Council, Lincolnshire Coastal BID and of course lots and lots of churches!

A website for the festival is being created at www.lincswoldsandcoastchurches.org/ and scheduled to be completed in June 2019.

HOLY TRINITY BEES.

A few of us have bee planting wild flower plants and seeds in "our" part of the churchyard. We are ready to receive the bees but it seems they are not ready for us yet.

In the meantime, planting and general preparation is important, not just for the bees but also it is hoped the area will become a place of quiet and meditation; to listen to the birds sing and the bees busying about their work.

The summer edition of the R.S.P.B magazine has an article by David Lindo about wildlife in cemeteries.

I quote from his article:-

" I love cemeteries. They are places of peace and life, and in a new city they are often one of the first places I visit to watch wildlife, But I'm always mindful of the fact that cemeteries are also places of respect and quiet reflection; that life thrives here because of death. In many ways that attitude helps me to see more nature."

(David Linda is a broadcaster and writer. His latest book is "How to Be an Urban Birder").

Just before Easter I visited Blickling Hall and Estate. When in the churchyard I discovered this notice. It is very appropriate.

I hope next month to be able to report that the bees are in residence.

The Guild of St. James'

The May meeting took place in Church House on Tuesday 21st with nearly twenty members present. Apologies were received from four members. The business was conducted briskly to confirm dates of the next meeting before Pat Wolley spoke about her life-journey in embroidery. She pulled out samples at random from bags, explaining the significance and memories in some detail, for example, the stole she embroidered for her husband's ordination in their fifties: he had been an engineer for many years; or meeting an old school friend at one of the courses Pat went on. Some of the pieces were just breathtakingly beautiful, like the portrait of an 18th lady embroidered in cross-stitch and the landscapes which in fact looked like watercolours. Pat leads a contented life of an artist as she spends her free time 'doodling' on canvass with a needle and thread - as she puts it. Some lovely bags made by Pat were donated to the Bring & Buy table which were snatched up by a very appreciative audience. The talk finished with a very moving prayer also embroidered in cross-stitch asking God to give the embroiderer the gift of stitches 'til her dying day. The members were able to touch, feel and ask questions, which Pat answered in an assured and friendly manner. Thank you very much, Pat.

Thank you also to Margaret Anderson and Sally Heaven for doing the teas and to Kim Thompson for overseeing the Bring and Buy sale. We raised £47.30 for The Children's Society. If you wish to make a donation, contact me.

Future Meetings

Next meeting is a trip to the Walled Gardens of Baumber on Thursday 18th July. Margaret Anderson is co-ordinating the transport arrangements so if you can offer a lift or want a lift, please ring her on 01507 610554. You will be walk around the gardens, have lunch in the cafe and buy plants and produce. A picnic seems like a good idea.

On Tuesday September 17th, we are going for lunch at The Splash in Legbourne. If you wish to join us, please let me know.

The restoration work is continuing to progress well and by the end of the month, we should be able to be rid of all the scaffolding. Whilst the work is in progress, we are not able to have free access to the church or grounds, especially when the stonemasons are here working, but people are very understanding and it will not be for much longer. A big clean up will be necessary before our Open Day on July 13th when we celebrate the completion of the work and all that is good of what we do here.

June's Community Coffee Morning on Tuesday 25th will be for our Romanian Charity Volunteers for Mental Health (VfMH). We have just received the sad news of the death of their former treasurer Clare Rose. She was one of the founders of VfMH and saw at first hand how the charity was helping improve the lives of the psychiatric patients in the hospital in Tarnaveni. Clare always thanked us for our support whenever I sent a cheque from a coffee morning, and was amazed that we were such a small community. Although the focus of the scheme is changing somewhat in that the emphasis is now more on training locals to become more involved in the unit on a day to day basis, rather than bringing in experienced volunteers from abroad. However, there is a great deal of work to do and the VfMH assistance is still much appreciated.

We are looking forward to being part of the East Lindsey Churches Festival in the early autumn and are planning our involvement in it.

Climate Change Article on the back page.

Responding to climate change together

The Diocese of Lincoln and the University of Lincoln are seeking to be leaders in Lincolnshire in responding to climate change through the staging of a conference focused on science and theology. The international conference, which is to be held on the 30th and 31st of August and 1st of September 2019 at the University of Lincoln and Lincoln Cathedral, will offer lectures, discussions and workshops with the aim of identifying responses to reduce human-induced climate change.

The conference will feature speakers from Lincoln, Polynesia, New Zealand and the United States, and will see dialogue between the disciplines of theology and science in seeking to reduce the size of the carbon footprint inherited by future generations. A further intended outcome of the conference will be the launch of an updated environmental policy for the diocese and details of processes designed to measure the effectiveness of actions taken.

Bishop Christopher has invited participants from Polynesia to tell their story of rising tides and severe storms. In looking ahead to the conference, the bishop has said: "Water can take life and give life. It is easy for us to lose touch with nature but the reality is that rising tides and tropical storms combined with drought and falling reservoirs leaves us with too much water and not enough water. In the UK we are somewhat shielded from the impact of such threats but places like Fiji and Tonga, which have endured immense changes in weather patterns, are a wake-up call for us all."

Bishop Christopher is hoping that as many people as possible will be able to attend the conference, and as well as the lectures there will be art displays, a market place showcasing the work of groups and businesses seeking to lower their carbon footprint, a dinner and a service in Lincoln Cathedral.

Speaking with regard to the new diocesan environmental policy, the Revd Richard Steel (diocesan Mission Team Leader) has said: "Our environmental policy will include commitments about how we run the diocesan offices and the use of glebe land, and it will encourage churches to take their own actions, as part of our commitment to the national 'Ecochurch' scheme. We will also be including a section detailing possible personal actions, with many practical suggestions.

"We believe that taking practical action in our care for creation is no longer a fringe interest for activities but rather a vital contribution that Christians can make to the future of this planet that God has given us, and a 'core concern of the Church's evangelising work'."

For more details, including ticketing information and speaker biographies, please see www.wateroflife2019.eventbrite.co.uk

Enquiries may also be made by calling 01522 50 40 50 or by emailing waterof-life.conference@lincoln.anglican.org

The carbon footprint of the conference will be calculated and offset with a tree planting project in Lincoln.
