Notes

from the Rectory

Last month I wrote about the way in which the world in which we live and worship has changed, and how, though the gospel message is unchanging, the way in which we tell of it and encourage others to join us in it has changed – asking that we rejoice in the variety that is present in our life and seek to get to know more fully what the whole family of the Church is doing in and around Louth. One of the ways in which we live out our life as Christians is to join others as we come before God in prayer, and to join others in worship.

For a long time our public worship has been seen as one of the ‘shop windows’ of the Church, and with good reason we should aim to make our worship attractive and welcoming. However, being a shop window that provides people with an immediately satisfying experience is not the only (indeed not the most important) reason for us gathering in worship – that would make worship little better than a performance or product for people to experience and consume. This misses the point – for our gathering for worship is primarily an occasion for us coming before God, offering ourselves as we are (warts and all!), hearing the scriptures, opening our hearts in prayer and offering our selves in worship. So even if our worship is to be attractive to others, it must keep at its core our own worship of God.

Worship is, for those participating, a chance to come before God and be open to God’s presence in their lives. Whilst this may not be all transforming on every occasion, this must be the possibility – either that we are experiencing God’s presence with us at the time, recalling a past experience of God through our worship, or preparing for a future experience of God in our lives by the discipline of worship. (Indeed we may do all three of these things at once!). We may find that we worship best in quiet times of contemplative prayer or in the holy chaos of Messy Church, in a small group of ‘two or three gathered together’ or in a larger group worshipping with ‘psalms and songs’; we might find poetry, pictures or music bring us closer to God. In all of this our prayer must be that we might draw closer to God – and that others may want to join us on travelling the same journey in their way.

So let each ‘shop window’ do its job – not of selling someone a single experience, but of helping them see that there is much on offer, and that they too can draw closer to the same God. It may be that they find God in the long-established department store, in the friendly village shop, or perhaps in the local shopping centre or corner shop; maybe in the new or maybe in the old – but let us pray that wherever they go they may see God at work and be encouraged to find that same God themselves, so that they too can share their discovery with those they meet.

All Souls Service at 6pm

As autumn approaches minds turn towards remembering past generations. For centuries the Church has prayed at this time for those who have passed away. At this service there will be a chance to remember your own loved ones in the peace and tranquillity of this beautiful place of prayer.

SUNDAY SERVICES

11am Holy Communion on the 1st Sunday, 3rd and 5th Sundays

We recently welcomed visitors over the weekend of 10 & 11 September as part of the Lincolnshire Heritage Open Days. People came from as far afield as Nottingham, Mansfield and Lincoln to retrace some of the history of the village which was shared not only in an exhibition in the church but also in guided walks around the area.

St Andrew's is the only public building in the village and as such it is an important focus for the community. Our much talked about toilet has given us the opportunity to broaden out the range of activities here. We not only have the regular Sunday services but it has also given us the incentive to develop more secular activities. We already have the monthly Community Coffee and Book Club and also we provide a venue for the History Group and for Church Mice (a group from U3A investigating church graffiti).

To this list we can now add Cacophony -The Really Terrible Choir. Anyone and everyone is very welcome to join us for an hour of lusty singing. If you think you can't sing or are often told 'you ought to keep quiet' but enjoy making a noise for the fun and the challenge, then this is for you. Just turn up with lungs full of air. We next meet at St Andrew's at 6.45 pm on Monday 17th October, (please note the slight change in starting time).

HOME SECRETARY HONOURS VOLUNTEERS FOR SERVICES TO LINCOLNSHIRE POLICE

I am proud to announce our team of Police Support Volunteers, coordinated by Sergeant Caroline Broughton and Mel Cowell, who befriend and advise elderly and vulnerable people in Lincolnshire about staying safe from crimes were honoured at an awards ceremony in London last week.

Lincolnshire Police set up the Repeat Elderly Vulnerable Intimidated Victim Engagement (REVIVE) scheme, which has helped protect people from falling victim to doorstep crime, scam mail, hate crime and mate crime.

The REVIVE team makes vulnerable people aware of crimes, freeing up police officers to concentrate on other work.

Myself and six other Police Support Volunteers were nominated by Lincolnshire police and we won the prestigious Team Award at the Lord Ferrers Awards last week.

The Lord Ferrers Awards recognise the outstanding contributions of Special Constables, Police Support Volunteers and Volunteer Police Cadets. They also acknowledge the support employers offer their local force by allowing volunteers time away from work.

Home Secretary Amber Rudd said:

“The Lord Ferrers Awards celebrate the professionalism, dedication and

“I am delighted to award the REVIVE team for the vital contribution they have made to Lincolnshire Police and the local community.

“I want to thank all the nominees for their commitment and drive and for making a real difference in the communities where they serve.”

Sergeant Caroline Broughton, who coordinates REVIVE alongside Mel Cowell, said:

“We are so very proud of our volunteers and it is fantastic that their work is being recognised through this award. The project is the culmination of several months planning and from the outset we have been met with enthusiasm and commitment from all of the team.

“They are so dedicated in what they do and their support and dedication has seen some great results. I think the key factor is that they all care about the people in their communities and want to make a difference. It is an amazing and inspiring project to be part of and that is completely down to them.”

As for myself, it has been a very big privilege indeed to have been able to work with Lincolnshire police supporting vulnerable people in our communities. It is often just by listening that crimes can be prevented or nipped in the bud.

I want to thank the force for the opportunities they have provided. Volunteering with the police has given me the confidence to explore new dimensions of faith and work.
